

Pelagic Birding

with Maine Audubon
and
Bar Harbor Whale Watch Co.

- Join Maine Audubon's annual fall pelagic trip out of Bar Harbor.
- Cruising aboard the Friendship V a catamaran that was designed for speed, stability, and optimum viewing, we'll be able to reach prime birding areas quickly and cover a large area up to 40 miles offshore
- Possibility of seeing gannets, several species of shearwaters, puffins, razorbills, jaegers, a variety of gulls, and both phalaropes—plus the distinct possibility of turning up a skua or other sought-after species
- For nonbirders there should be plenty of whale sightings and spectacular views of the mountains of Mount Desert Island.

Saturday, October 3, 2009

6 a.m.-2 p.m.

$110/Maine Audubon member, $135/nonmember

Call 781-2330, ext. 209 for registration or more information